Get ready for risk

MACRA is becoming both an economic opportunity and threat to providers.

Regardless of your vantage point – health system, physician practice, or clinically integrated network – transparency into provider performance is key.

The time to act is now. Dollars and reputations are on the line.

your one-stop-shop for cross-continuum performance management

It shouldn't require more than one system to monitor and manage the performance of clinicians in your network. You need a single, integrated solution that meets the needs of your health system leaders, service line leaders and individual clinicians for system-wide performance improvement.

Quality performance

Get a single view of cross-continuum clinician, service line and network performance in key quality programs. Includes built-in national and peer benchmarks.

MIPS performance

Prepare for and thrive under the new Merit-based Incentive Payment System (MIPS) brought forth by the MACRA Quality Payment Program. Includes a view of clinician's performance in all MIPS domains: quality, improvement activities, advancing care information and cost.

Embedded education

Empower your clinicians further with an embedded Learning Management System providing access to learning modules and the ability to manage Continuing Medical Education (CME).

Solutions for Every Role

The Clinician Performance Management solution can be tailored to serve multiple user needs

01

Clinicians receive a provider-centric, holistic view across care settings and dimensions of performance (quality, cost and efficiency), as well as built-in modules for managing continuing education and improvement.

02

Practice and service line leaders gain critical, data-driven insight into clinician performance and generate custom integrated performance review targets based on individual specialty.

03

Health system leadership understand trends across various arrangements, identify system-wide quality and cost improvement opportunities, and make strategic decisions in network alignment and resource allocation.

"Premier's Clinician Performance Management solution is easy to use and allows us to engage clinicians as active participants in the management of quality and financial outcomes. We're able to see how we're trending toward meeting our benchmarks and how clinician outcomes compare with organizations like us. The solution creates an intuitive, dynamic visualization of clinician performance connecting multiple reporting entities and customized measures for each facility."

- Jennifer Glendening, MSN, CPHQ, director of quality at Cooper University Hospital of Camden, N.J.
